**Using the Interpretation Feature during a Meeting****

The interpreter will ask the case manager to assign them the host role for a few minutes while they get the interpretation feature set up.

The interpreter will provide instructions to team members in the source and target languages, and post instructions in the chat box for late arrivals. Please support the interpreter by helping any team members who join the meeting later get set up with the interpretation feature.

When the interpretation feature has been turned on you will see a notification appear at the bottom of your screen that looks like this:

Click on the globe icon and select the “English” channel.

You will only be able to hear the interpreter speaking when they are on the “English” channel. The family will only hear the interpreter when they are on the target language channel.

The interpreter will be able to hear all participants who do not have their microphone muted at all times.

Participants on the English channel and participants on the other language channel will be able to hear each other, but they will hear the interpreter’s voice at a louder volume when the interpreter is speaking on their channel.
